

Rising Collage - Lyonsville Tee Bude
Wed. 6.40 a.m.

My dear Daryl, one -

Just a line to slip in Wimmer note - I doubt if anything posted later than today will reach you at Cambridge this week - so as Gillian still sleeps & Penma is absorbed in her orange I'll write to you -

Hope you got some sleep - even in a strange bed and that your toothache is better - Do hope, that if - as I think likely it is due to your cold, it will spread no further - I believe I've checked mine - at any rate I feel better in myself and it ~~does not~~ it seems to be drying up instead of spreading up the autumn etc -

I went past Betty and over the dam to fetch the children as the wind was much less yesterday - Found Mrs H in the garden who took the bottle charming and I thought understood by - She is charming
- but rather an incapable little farmer I should imagine - She tells me her baby has been down with throat glands etc for weeks - Well, I didn't tell her how weeks ago

I saw her silly muse all day the boy & get wet & the wind while he paddled (!) for - well nearer  $\frac{3}{4}$  hr than  $\frac{1}{2}$  hr. It was a warm day in May - I only let ans paddle - and wondered at the Holthys Childs strength - but he evidently could not stand it. I'm better in health now that I can throw it off - or else it is the Dettol gargle I'm using on the tablets - I did not use Dettol last time Joan did I wonder if that was why she never got very bad -

Well - after a chat with M<sup>rs</sup> H. I went on of the Children - who had by then <sup>recovery</sup> you had gone - I comforted them with the brochures - Gillian loves your College one with its 6 little lions & 6 fleur de lis. In the afternoon while children having tea - strawberries, Anna came in & joined them - and quite of her own accord marched to the sink & washed up - Gillian wifed - When we had finished she came to me & said "Have I left everything as you like it?" Gillian was so impressed - then we armed ourselves with spades & a rake & went to search for the ball - We searched a strip about 10ft - by 6ft by 1ft deep - They had a glorious time doing this but found no ball - Anna is a nice child & quite an asset - She is staying a year at least -

Today M<sup>rs</sup> Tape doesn't come - It is nearly 7 a.m. so I'd better close - I'll have a letter at Cambridge for you by Monday - 7.15 a.m. - must get up -

Oh my darling one - I do hope your cold will heal up soon ready for the next thing - Don't leave your ap till it is well please -

No word of Chris last night -

All my love -
Ada -

THANK YOU FOR THE BROOCH
LOVE GILLIAN.
